REPEAL BILL SENT TO SENATE

NO ASSURANCES ON DEBTS CANCELLATION OR REVISION GIVEN

SENATE INFORMED PRESIDENT HOOVER PROMISED PREMIER LAVAL NOTHING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The senate was informed through Secretary Stimson today that in the 1931 conversations between President Hoover and Premier Laval of France "no assurances of commitments" on revision or cancellation of debts were requested or given.

By way of letters to Senator Reed (R., Pa.), which were inserted in the Congressional Record, Stimson and Secretary Mills took notice of the recent senate speech by Senator Borah of Idaho.

"I can say without qualification," wrote Mills, "that there is no justification for any asseration or belief that during the course of those conversations any assurance, direct or implied, was given that there would be a revision of French debt obligations to the United States in consideration of a revision of German reparations such as subsequently took place at Lausanne.

"In fact," the letter continued, "no commitments were made and the communique issued at the time is a strictly accurate recital of the nature of the discussions."

The communique referred said in part as follows:

"An infromal and cordial discussion has served to outline with greater precision the nature of the problems. It has not been the purpose of either of us (President Hoover and Prime Minister Laval) to engage in commitments binding our governments but rather, through development of fact, to enable each country to act more effectively in its own field."

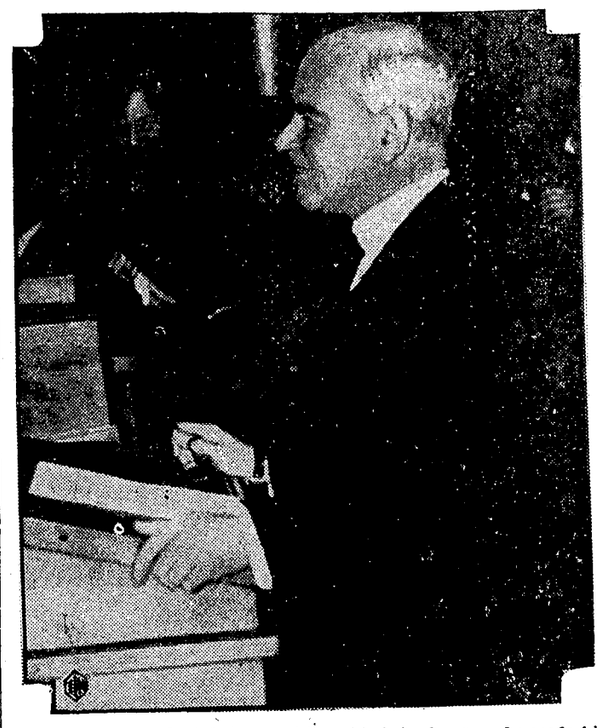

Senator Reed had communicated with Stimson and Mills after controversy in the senate with Borah as to whether President Hoover had sought congressional co-operation for future debt revision before his conference with Laval.

Borah had contended the president had done so and that this encouraged France to hope for further debt devision. Reed and Senator Watson (R., Ind.) denied the president has taken up the question at the congressional-white house meeting.

The Stimson letter to Reed said in part: "So far as these (Hoover-Laval) discussions touched upon the subject of debts and reparations they were limited entirely to temporary steps which might be taken to offset the effects of the depression. * *

"No cancellaion or revision of either debts or reparations was proposed by either side. No assurances or commitments on such subject was either asked for or given."

SPEAKERSHIP FIGHT WAXING WARM AUSTIN AS SALONS GATHER

STEVENSON OF JUNCTION AND JOHNSON OF CARRIZO SPRINGS CANDIDATES

AUSTIN, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The campaign between Coke Stevenson of Junction and A. P. Johnson of Carrizo Springs for the speakership of the house of representatives was the only activity here today incident to convening of the 43rd Texas legisture in biennial session.

Both Stevenson, a member of the house for two sessions, and Johnson, a three term member, claimed victory. Each said they had pledges from approximately 90 of the 150 members.

There was no indication that Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, who will succeed the incumbent, R. S. Sterling, as governor a week from tomorrow, was taking any hand in the sepakership election, although partisans of Stevenson claimed she preferred him. Johnson wrote a letter to Mrs. Ferguson, sending her husband, Former Governor James E. Ferguson, a carbon copy, pledging his co-operation with the executive department in event of his election.

Ninety-four members of the legislature, which will convene tomorrow for a four-months' term, are novices. Eighty-four members of the house are new and ten members of the senate will take their seats for the first time. There are 150 members of the house and 31 senators.

Pending election of a speaker, the first business on docket, Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, secretary of state, will preside over the house. Senator Grady Woodruff of Decatur, president pro tem of the senate, will call that body to order in the absence of Edgar Witt of Waco, lieutenant governor, convalescing from injuries received in a fall several weeks ago. Witt is in Walter Reed Hospital in Washington.

It had been predicted that Senator Walter Woodul of Houston, a personal friend to Governor Sterl-

Turtle Troubled By Two Heads Is Finally Deceased

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Jan. 9.—A bottle of alcohol today contains the body of a two-headed snapping turtle which never could make up its minds what it wanted to do.

A nine-year-old girl found the turtle on a lake shore last September and gave it to the General Electric research laboratory. In an aquarium the turtle wandered about aimlessly, its two heads usually trying to go in different directions. When one head wanted to sleep the other head wanted to walk or swim, and so on.

Even in death the turtle was divided against itself. Head No. 1 died Saturday. Head No. 2 was free to act at will, and the turtle romped spiritedly about the aquarium, but the spree lasted only 24 hours, and yesterday Head No. 2 also fell dead.

PLAN ARMISTICE BETWEEN CHINESE AND JAPS TODAY

REPORTED NEGOTIATIONS FOR BRINGING HOSTILITIES TO END READY START

TOKYO, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Marshal Chang Hsiao-Liang, military ruler of North China, was reported today to have intimated his readiness to negotiate an armistice between Japanese and Chinese forces at Shanhaikwan.

The Rengo agency and other Japanese news dispatches from Tientain, China, reported the marshall's apparent readiness and said Japanese expected the parleys to be opened shortly.

A Rengo dispatch from Chinchow, Manchuria, said the Chinese have expressed their readiness to negotiate an armistice and that General Nakamura, Japanese commander, named Major Chujiro Miura to meet with General Ho Chu-Kuo, the ousted Chinese commander at Shanhaikwan The parley will open near that city, the dispatch said.

(After the battle or Shanhaikwan, Chinese official reports said Marshal Chang served notice on the Japanese that he did not care to deal with them and requested that they send any communications to the Nanking government).

Despite Japan's professions of eagerness for a localized settlement at Shanhaikwan, a foreign office spokesman indicated Japan intends to insist on terms likely to have a far-reaching effect in North China, involving treaties to which other powers, including the United States, were parties.

Any settlement, said the spokesman, must include a revival of restrictions on Chinese military movements embodied in the military provisions of the Boxer protocol. These were contained in identical notes exchanged between Japan, France, Britain, Italy and Germany and China from July 15 to 18, 1902.

They denied the Chinese the right to station or march troops within seven miles of Tientsin, port of Pieping, and gave commanders of foreign garrisons along the Pieping-Shanhaikwan railway the right to exclude Chinese troops

FOUR SAN ANTONIO TAXI DRIVERS SHOT DEATH LAST NIGHT

DISPUTE OVER TWO GIRLS ALLEGED TO HAVE STARTED GUN BATTLLE

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Four taxi drivers were shot to death last night in a gun fight which a witness said was precipitated by a dispute involving two girls.

The dead:
RAMON GARCIA, 24.
MARTIN RAMIREZ, 26.
DAN VILLAREAL, 27.
ARTURO HERNANDEZ, 27.

The shooting broke out suddenly at a house in an alley adjoining the taxi stand parking lot where the drivers were employed.

Elvira Munoz, occupant of the house, came to police headquarters and related her version of the affray.

She said Garcia and Ramirez, together with three other men, were in her house when Villareal and Hernandez entered with two girls.

Garzia and Ramirez started upbraiding Villareal and Hernandez about the girls, Miss Munoz told police. Then Garcia attempted to put Villareal out of the house.

When Villareal had passed through the door, he drew a pistol. Ramirez, still inside the house, drew his pistol. They opened fire simultaneously.

The four drivers were shot down in the exchange and other members of the party fled.

Garcia's body, with a bullet wound in the chest, was found sprawled on the floor of the house. No weapon was found near him.

Ramirez was dropped in the middle of the alley with a bullet in the head. An army automatic pistol which had been fired five times lay near his hand.

Behind a pile of packing cases officers found the body of Villareal. He was shot through the body and still alive, but died while being taken to a hospital.

A pistol which had been fired four times was clutched in his hand. The hammer had snapped on a fifth shell.

Hernandez was lying in the parking lot. There was no weapon near him. He died in route to a hospital from a bullet wound in the body.

Justice of the Peace John R. Shook planned to complete his inquest today.

Authorities investigated the possibility that a fifth man who ran from the scene might have been seriously wounded.

PRETTY WOMAN IS READY TO TELL ALL ABOUT FREE LOVE

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Attorney James M. Burke today told police investigating the slaying of Edwin Schildhauer that the bandmaster's widow had decided to "reveal that their home became a free love nest where married couples shared husbands and wives indiscriminately.

Mrs. Frances Schildhauer would come from seclusion in the home of friends and tell Captain John Stege "the whole story of her life," Burke said.

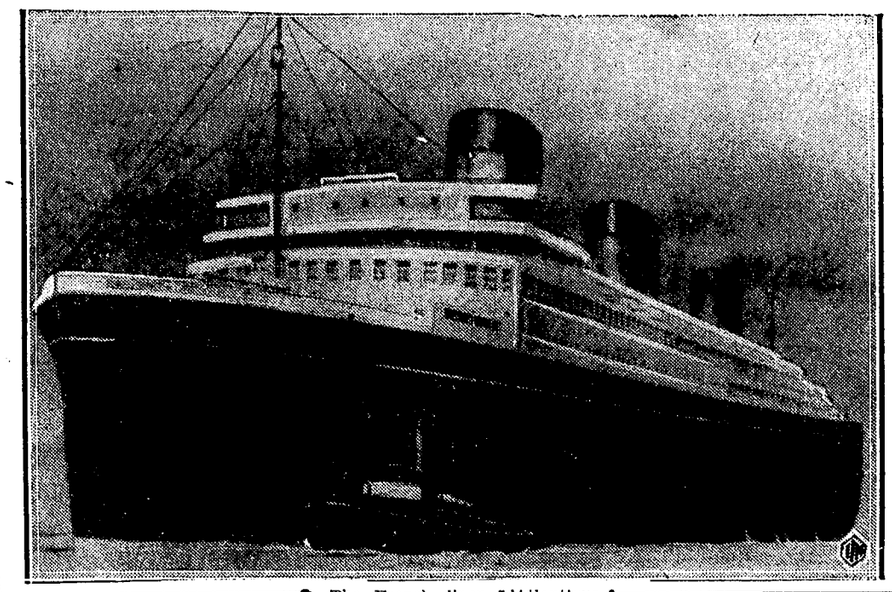

"If she was unfaithful, so was her husband and so were all the others," he said.

Mrs. Schildhauer, comely young widow of the music instructor of Austin High school, made herself inaccessible to police after questioning last week. She has insisted she saw two men force her husband ino an automobile on the night of Dec. 10. He was found shot to death later that night.

The ship carried no passengers, but 18 of the crew of 200 were drowned or perished in the flames that swept the ship from stem to stern. Grief Cause Of Sunday Suicide Of Congressman

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(AP)—For months Representative Austin Kendall of Pennsylvania grieved over the death of his wife. Yesterday he killed himself.

He was found dead in his office in the house office building—a bullet through his head and a new pistol in his hand.

A verdict of suicide was issued after a note was found at the home of the 73-year-old Republican.

The note, addressed to his children, said:

"My work on earth is completed. The sudden death of your dear mother was the most severe shock of my whole life and I have been unable to throw off my grief.

"Every day has added to my sorrow and I can no longer bear my suffering which I have kept from you.

"Mother has been calling me to her and little Van in heaven and I can no longer resist the call and am going to join them. Goodbye. Father."

"Little Van" was a 4-year-old son, Grant Van Nest, who died in 1913. Kendall and his wife, the former Miss Minnie Edith Wiley of Liscomb, Iowa, had been married nearly half a century at the time of her death last August 22.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Grace Faeona Angus, and two sons, Samuel A. Kendall, Jr., and John Wiley Kendall. They all live here. The funeral will be at Myersdale Wednesday.

TWO MEN AND TWO WOMEN BEING HELD FOR INVESTIGATION

ARREST MADE SUNDAY NIGHT ON HIGHWAY IN ANGUS COMMUNITY

Two men and two women are in jail for investigation in connection with an alleged attempt to hi-jack Beverly Caldwell near Angus Sunday night. The arrests were made by highway patrolmen and the suspects were lodged in jail and turned over to county officers.

It is alleged that as the Caldwell car approached the scene of the alleged attempted hi-jacking, one man dropped what looked like a half sack of flour on the highway and ran away. Companions were in a large touring car bearing a Fort Worth license plate, arkped on the side of the highway. Caldwell did not stop, but reported the incident to highway officers who went to the scene of the happening behind the Caldwell car.

One of the occupants of the parked car is said to have fired an automatic shotgun into the air as the Caldwell car stopped, and the highway patrolmen placed the quartet under arrest.

Included in the list of articles found in the car were a ball of bee's wax, a bottle of liquid resembling gasoline, bolt cutters, drills, nail bars, chisels, hack saws, an automatic shotgun loaded with buckshot, a flour sack filled with straw, a handbag, and other articles.

Officers believe the arrested men are also connected with an attempted hi-jacking of several trucks last week south of Corsicana.

EXTREMIST UNREST RESULTS SIXTEEN DEAD ABOUT MADRID

MANY WOUNDED; UNESTIMATED NUMBER UNDER ARREST IN SERIES REVOLTS

BY REX SMITH
(Associated Press Correspondent.)

MADRID, Jan. 9.—(AP)—A wave of extremist unrest sweeping through the young republic of Spain left a toll of sixteen persons killed and a large number wounded today while an unestimated number were under arrest.

Striking without warning, the different extremist organizations apparently were operating under a co-ordinate command. The attacks occurred mainly in industrial centers of the country through Sunday.

From Oviedo, in the northwest, where striking mine workers killed an electrical engineer while he was going home, the outbreaks carried through Sallant, where a civil guard was killed, and on to Lerida and Barcelona, with seven killed in each of the latter two northeast cities.

Sallent is near the textile center of Manresa, where the bloody extremist rebellion occurred in January, 1931, three months before the

APPEARS AS WITNESS BEFORE SENATE COMMITTEE ON RELIEF MEASURE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Atlee Pomerene, chairman of the Reconstruction corporation, defended its relief loan policy today in testimony before the senate committee holding hearings on the $500,000,000 LaFollette-Costigan direct federal relief bill. Questioned by Senators in the light of heavy criticism of the R. F. C., by previous witnesses, Pomerene told how a substantial loan was made to Illinois upon information that the new state taxes for relief were not possible just before the election because down state members of the legislature would not consent to a new tax burden at that time.

Pomerene said this information was put before the corporation by a delegation of Illinois and Chicago officials who came seeking funds.

Pomerene was accompanied by C. A. Miller, president of the Corporation; Gardner Cowles, a director, and Fred Croxton, an assistant in charge of unemployment relief details.

Senators LaFollette (R., Wis.) Costigan (D., Colo.) and Wheeler (D., Mont.) questioned him.

Pomerene pointed out that under the law a governor must certify to the necessity of federal aid and declare that state resources have been exhausted before loans may be granted.

"How many states have applied for Loans?" asked Senator Wheeler.

"Thirty-six and two territories," Pomerene replied.

"How many have been granted?" asked Wheeler.

They've all been granted.'

Illinois Farm Scene of Double Murder Sunday

OREGON, Ill., Jan. 9.—(AP)—Of four persons who sat down to breakfast at the farm home of Daniel W. Fisher near here Sunday only one was left today to tell of a double slaying and shooting.

Fisher, 53, and his housekeeper, Mrs. Bessie Meade, 35, former Chicagoan, were beaten to death by John Bellarques, farm hand on the place. Several hours later Bellarues was shot down by a member of a posse at a nearby farm.

The survivor of the "breakfast for four," Peter Kuturich, said he left to do an errand immediately after breakfast and that when he returned he discovered the bodies of Fisher and Mrs. Meade with heads crushed.

Bellarques was absent. Kutrich informed authorities. When he returned, the bodies had been moved and covered with canvas.

A posse of farmers came upon the slayer at an adjacent farm yard. Trapped, Bellarques lunged at Harold Swanson, member of the posse, with an iron crowbar. Swanson shot him down.

Authorities could assign no definite motive for Bellarues' act, but Bellarques apparently had a reason.

"They were no good," he muttered just before he died as he was being taken to a hospital.

SON OF "BIG SIX" INJURED AND WIFE KILLED IN CRASH

SHANGHAI, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Christopher (Christy) Mathewson, Jr., son of the famous baseball player, was improving today from serious injuries received in a plane accident which took the life of his bride of two weeks.

His wife, the former Margaret Phillips, of Philadelphia, was taking off for her first flight with her flying instructor-husband yesterday when the giant two-motored plane suddenly nose-dived in the river bank on the outskirts of Shanghai.

She died a half hour later in a hospital where young Mathewson was taken with two broken arms, a broken leg and other injuries.

The couple were married Christmas Eve in a double wedding here.

The plane Mathewson was piloting belonged to Dr. T. V. Soong, the minister of finance of the Chinese nationalist government.

ENTIRE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE FAVORS BLAINE RESOLUTION

PROHIBITION REPEAL STARTED ON WAY THROUGH CONGRESS MONDAY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Acting with unexpected speed the senate judiciary committee sent a prohibition repeal resolution to the senate today with a favorable report.

In a single session, the committee voted almost unanimously to report the Blaine repeal resolution, slightly modified to limit the ratification period to seven years.

The resolution proposes to repeal the eighteenth amendment, protect dry states from shipments of liquor, and permit congress to legislate against return of the saloon.

The action was taken in an executive session lasting only an hour and a half at which Chairman Blaine submitted the favorable report from his subcommittee which drafted the measure.

There was considerable discussion of the provision for submitting the resolution to state conventions instead of state legislatures but the committee voted to retain it.

The protection for dry states and the provision for congress to legislate against the return of the saloon were also retained on seperate votes.

The action of the committee was announced by Senator King, Utah democrat, member of the committee.

The vote was the first time a standing congressional committee has approved a measure to repeal the eighteenth amendment since it went into effect 13 years ago.

The vote by which the resolution was favorably reported was 13 to 4.

How They

Those voting for it were:

Those opposed were: Senators Robinson (R., Ind.), Schuyler, (R., Colo.); Black (D., Ala.); and Chairman Norris (R., Neb.).

Senatars Borah (R., Idaho), Schall (R., Minn.), and Stephens (D., Miss.), were absent when the vote was taken. Borah sat through part of the discussion but left believing no vote would be taken.

The Blaine resolution was approved as reported by the subcommittee with the following section added:

"Section 4—This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the constitution by the legislatures of the several states within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the states by the congress."

Couple Is Found Suffering From Monoxide Poison

DALLAS, Jan. 9.—(AP)—A couple who registered as Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Williams of Waco was found unconscious from carbon monoxide poisoning at a hotel across a street from a hospital here today.

The man was believed to be about 21 years old and the woman about 23. When a maid failed to get a response to a knock on the door of the room where the couple was sleeping, she entered. A gas fire was burning.

Emergency hospital physicians gave first aid treatment and the couple soon was revived. It was believed they would suffer no serious effects from the gas but were too ill to make a statement to investigators.

SIX PERSONS, TWO WOMEN AMONG THEM, SLAIN DURING KENTUCKY MOUNTAIN FEUD

MANCHESTER, Ky., Jan. 9.—(AP)—Two women were listed today among six persons known to have been killed recently in the Double Creek section of Clay county.

The latest casualties in disorders authorities attribute to factional differences were reported yesterday when Bropha Lipps 25, and Esther Smith, 17, were slain by rifle bullets.

Lipps was among a group of men charged with murder in connection with several killings. He had been accused with the others in the slaying of Willie Wagers and Ford Lipps but was dismissed when witnesses failed to identify him.

Lipps and Miss Smith were at the home of Lipps' father-in-law, Will Smith, with several other persons when bullets fired through the house struck them. None of the others was wounded.

Afterwards, Seed Collins, who was at the Smith home at the time of the shooting, swore to warrants accusing six men in connection with the killings. Named in the warrants were John Wagers and his two sons, Noah and Jim; Reuben Smith, Wood Lipps and Tom Gray.

Noah and Jim Wagers and Tom Gray had been under peace bonds and had been prosecution witnesses in the Willie Wagers and Ford Lipps cases. John Wagers' wife was killed when ambushers fired into her home the day before Willie Wagers and Ford Lipps were shot. Shortly before her death, Tom Wagers was killed.

The home of "Little" Joe Lipps father of Wood Lipps, was fired upon some time ago and his twin sons, fifteen years old, were wounded as they lay in bed.

The troubles have been attributed to political differences and family dislikes aggravated by petty quarrels.

MAURY HUGHES CONFERS WITH PARTY LEADERS ON GARNER'S SUCCESSOR IN AUSTIN MONDAY

AUSTIN, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Senator Archie Parr of Benavides, plans to introduce a bill in the Texas senate tomorrow providing for the holding of two primaries, Feb. 18 and March 4, to select a Democratic nominee for congressman from the 15th district, the position now held by Vice President-elect John N. Garner.

Maury Hughes, chairman of the state Democratic executive committee, and Fifteenth district party leaders decided during a conference here today to ask Senator Parr to intoduce such a bill. They will ask Governor-elect Miriam A. Ferguson to call a special election March 28, when the democratic choice would oppose candidates of other parties and independents.

AUSTIN, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Maury Hughes, chairman of the state Democratic executive committee, was here today for a conference with party leaders of the 15th congressional district regarding the selection of a successor to Congressman John N. Garner of Uvalde, who becomes vice president March 4.

Hughes planned to confer with James V. Allred, attorney general, regarding legal aspects of the question. Hughes was interested primarily in making sure that a Democratic primary, and possibly a run-off primary, would be held in order to forestall the possibility of a Republican being elected through a split in the Democratic vote.

D. W. Price of Uvalde, district Democratic chairman, has called a primary for Feb.4. Hughes said that the legality of this primary had been questioned and that injunction proceedings against it had been threatened. Allred held

WOMAN IN CASE TURNED AGAINST MAN WHO HAD RISEN TO AFFLUENCE

CLEVELAND, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Betrayed by a woman he befriended, a prosperous and respected Cleveland business man who for 14 years has been a fugitive from a Colorado prison, will return there next week and ask for a pardon.

The fugitive, known in Cleveland as Harry Stanley, manager of a music publishing company, said he was sentenced to three years imprisonment in Colorado in 1917 on an auto theft charge, under the name of Glenn Smeeman.

After serving five months, he escaped from a trusty gang, and rode a freight train to Cleveland. Changing him name, he entered business and rose to affluence.

His life was that of a normal business man. He married, and is now the father of a three-months-old child. He is building a $25,000 home in a fashion[illegible] suburb and drives an expensive automobile.

Stanley was arrested yesterday at the request of Colorado authorities, who were informed of his identity by a woman in Michigan.

She was the woman, the fugitive said, for whom he went to prison rather than expose her. He was 18 years old, he said when he met her in Denver.

"One night she and I and two other men went for an automobile ride and were arrested. The car was stolen but I did not know it. Anyway, I went to prison while she went scot free," he said.

Three months ago, Stanley said, he again met the woman accidentally on the street in Detroit and she demanded $25, he said. "I gave it to her and when I refused to give her more, she told me she could 'turn me in' for the $50 reward for my capture."

Stanley was free on $1,000 bond today, planning to return to Colorado, unguarded.

DENVER, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Governor-elect Edwin C. Johnson said he would not determine in advance what his decision would be on an application for a pardon for Glenn Smeeman, Colorado fugitive held in Cleveland where he was known as Harry Stanley.

The man will be given the same consideration as any other prisoner," the governor-elect, who takes office Tuesday, said.

Denver police records vary sharply in some respects with the story related by Stanley. The records show Glenn Smeeman at the time of his sentence in 1917 was 26, instead of 18 years old, as he told Cleveland authorities.

Popular Streetman Girl Weds Wortham Man Last Saturday

STREETMAN, Jan. 9.—(Spl.)—An event of much interest was the beautiful wedding of Hiram Stubbs, Jr., of Wortham and Miss Edna Estelle Cole of Streetman, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cole of Streetman Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The affair was sweetly solemnized and witnessed by relatives and intimate friends.

The hour was announced by the wedding music played by Mrs. H. C. Meador of Wortham, an aunt of the groom. The ever-popular song "I Love You Truly" was beautifully song by Mrs. W. R. Sneed of Corsicana. Other lovely wedding music was heard as the Rev. C. E. Richter of the Fair Park Presbyterian church of Dallas took his place at the altar, followed by little Miss Marilyn Moore, as ring-bearer, the charming four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Moore of Corsicana. She was a captivating dream of sweetness and beauty in a fairy like creation of the bride's colors, green and white, as she carried the ring nested on the dainty white satin pillow.

Again, from the music room came the favorite Lohengrin Bridal Chorus, while the bridal party entered from doorways on either side of the altar, and assumed positions. First to come was Henry Meador, Jr., best man, then the groom. From another entrance came the bride's maid, Miss Mary Grace Lott, preceding the bride, who entered alone. With beautiful words the impressive ring ceremony was spoken by the minister that gave to the young couple the sacred right to love and cherish each other through life's journey, as they took the vows of husband and wife.

The living room was given over for the ceremonial, where the colors of green and white were emphasized and in its development ivy ferns and smilax were used. An improvised altar was artistically fashioned of the large mirrowed fire-place, canopied with clinging vines that reached the ceiling. The mantel held silver candlebra of white tapers on either side, while the central adornment was a large crystal basket of ferns, accentuated with lovely bridal ribbons.

Two tall floor baskets of ferns marked the space assigned the bridal party.

A mirror on opposite side reflected the altar, where again two silver candlebras played their part of decorations with the green tones introduced through the use of green candles and similar effect used in the dining room on the buffet.

The large wedding cake on a crystal stand centered the table, all resting on a mirror center decoration from which was carried the smilax to table corners over the imported lace cover. A miniature bride and groom featured the cake decoration.

Silver holders with white ribbon bedecked candles, crystal baskets of ferns were advantageously placed—all making an ideal setting for the bride, who was beautiful and radiant with happiness as she cut the wedding cake, and in dispensing hospitality. Assisting the bride in this was her mother and her sisters Mesdames: Webb, Allen Cole, Clyde Cole, Henry Cole of Streetman, and Mary Crotty of Waco.

The bride was attired in a beige Parisian Lavin modeled gown, with harmonizing accessories and a hat of hyacinth blue. She carried a showered bouquet of white bride's roses, and for "something old" wore her mother's pearl brooch, "something borrowed" old lace. She wore a smart outfit of chestnut brown for her going away costume.

Miss Lott was lovely in her selection of gray frock, while Mrs. Meador and Mrs. Sneed wore most becomingly an afternoon dresses of deep blue.

The bride is the accomplished and popular young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cole and is well known for her graciousness and high traits of character which constitute the type of noble womanhood. She was reared in Streetman, and is a graduate of its high school, and also a student of C. I. A.

Hiram Stubbs, Jr., is the only son of Mr and Mrs. J. P. Stubbs of Wortham, where he was born and has grown to manhood. He comes from a prominent pioneer family that were active in the making of Wortham and Freestone county. He is a grandson of H. B. Stubbs of Wortham, and a great grandson of the late Peter L. Stubbs. The groom is a young business man of sterling worth, fine qualities, and exemplary habits. He is an honor graduate of Wortham High school, attended Trinity University and A. and M. college.

After the reception the bride and groom left in their car for Houston and other South Texas cities for a brief wedding trip, amid hearty congratulations, and best wishes for a life full of joy, happiness, prosperity, and the rich blessings of heaven.

Wedding guests noted in Streetman for the occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Crotty of Waco, Miss Maray Grace Lott of Fairfield, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Moore and little daughter, Marilyn, Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Sneed of Corsicana; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Stubbs, H. B. Stubbs, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Meador, Henry Meador Jr., Lillie Roark Meador, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stubbs, Dr. and Mrs. K. W. Sneed Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Stubbs, Mrs. J. H. Love and Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Wright of Wortham. Mr. and Mrs. Jake Stubbs of Mexia, Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Richter of Dallas.

Doris Newton Became Bride Of Doyle West On Sunday Morning

A floral setting of much beauty gave the background at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. West Sunday morning when their son, Doyle, and Miss Doris Newton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Newton, were united in marriage at 10 o'clock by Rev. E. T. Miller, pastor of the First Baptist church. The impressive ring ceremony was read in the presence of the families of the bride and groom, and a few close friends, the bride being becomingly gowned in a brown coat suit with brown accessories, wearing a corsage of bronze chrysanthemums and lavender sweet peas.

Following the ceremony and congratulations, a buffet luncheon was served. The table, overspread with a rich lace cover, held the bride's cake, a beautiful, two-tiered confection in white, decorated with pink rosebuds and topped with a miniature bride and groom for its center decoration.

About its base, soft, lacy fern was gracefully arranged and extended down the table to the crystal candlesticks that held tall pink tapers.

When served the guests found places at four small tables of dainty appointments. The nut-cups at each place were white, decorated with orange blossoms.

Mr. and Mrs. West left immediately after the luncheon for Texarkana, and will probably make their home there, as Mr. West is with the state highway department stationed at Hooks, a nearby town.

Both the bride and groom are popular members of the young social circle of this city and graduates of the Corsicana High school. Mr. West graduated in 1927 and attended Rice Institute two and a half years. Mrs. West graduated the following year and since then has been with the City Book Store and the Big Four Shoe Store in a business capacity.

Those present at the marriage, other than the West and Newton families, were Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Slauson, and Mr. and Mrs. Elton Tinkle of Gladewater.

Emhouse Hi Seniors Were Entertained By Annie Rose Boyd

Annie Rose Boyd entertained her senior class with a turkey dinner at 6 and a theater party later.

The beautifully appointed table carried out the mid-winter color scheme with its bright tapers and holly berries. Covers were laid for fourteen.

After the lovely dinner, dancing and chatting were enjoyed until the guests departed for the 9 o'clock performance of Jimmy Allard and his Brevities at the Palace.

Much fun was had as the guests left for the show, for some one had tied a number of tin cans to the cars, which caused much excitement. When the "dignified seniors' reached the show, only the strings remained.

Those in the Emhouse graduating class are:

CALVIN COOLIDGE FELL NINE YEARS SHORT USUAL SPAN

FAILED TO REACH AVERAGE FOR DEATHS OF FORMER PRESIDENTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The life-span allotted to Calvin Coolidge was nine years shorter than the average of all the American presidents who have gone before him.

His 60 years even fell below the average presidential lifetime for the period since the Civil war which was dropped to 63 years and has given rise frequently to the statement that America in this modern age subjects its presidents to a strain that kills.

In the slower days of the republic's infancy, its chief executive often lived to a ripe old age. John Adams, who followed George Washington in the presidency, lived to be 90. Thomas Jefferson, James Madison and John Quincy Adams all reached or passed the 80 mark.

The comparative longevity of the early fathers accounts in large part for the fact that the figures for America's presidents as a whole rests at 69 years—just one short of the traditional "three score and ten."

But since the time of Abraham Lincoln, history shows, only three presidents have attained that age and none has gone far beyond it. Rutherford B. Hayes was 70 when he died, Grover Cleveland, 71, and William Howard Taft 72.

Assassin's bullets cut the lives of James A. Garfield at 49, Abraham Lincoln at 56 and William McKinley at 58. Theodore Roosevelt was 61 when he died.

Many maladies have risen to take from the nation a president or former president in the years since George Washington, at 67, caught his death of cold while riding over his Virginia estate unmindful of a storm.

Woodrow Wilson, world war president, died of heart disease at the same age as Washington.

John Quincy Adams died after a stroke of paralysis. Martin Van Buren was a victim of asthma; William Henry Harrison of pneumonia; John Tyler, liver trouble; James Buchanan, rheumatic gout; Andrew Johnson paralaysis; Ulysses S. Grant, cancer; Rutherford B. Hayes, heart disease; and Chester A. Arthur, apoplexy, to mention a few.

To few was it granted to pass on as peacefully as the thirtieth, President Calvin Coolidge, who died of a sudden heart attack, or Roosevelt whose vigorous life ended quietly while he was sleeping.

First Payment of Per Capita School Apportionment Made

AUSTIN, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The first payment on the 1932-33 per capita school apportionment was authorized today by L. W. Rogers state superintendent of public instruction. The payment, which will be $1 on each of the 1,565,933 scholastics enrolled will be mailed the latter part of next week.

The assessment for the county superintendent's office, in all counties having an elective superintendent, will be deducted from the first installment.

Rogers estimated that $3 of the per capita apportionment of $16 would remain unpaid at the end of the present fiscal year. Contracts for the current school year have a priority claim on the available school fund and funds appropriated for the various districts should not be used to liquidate indebtedness of a previous year until after provision is made for liquidation of all current obligations, Rogers said.

One of Greatest Oil Pools in History Was Opened Decade Ago

Ten years ago Corsicana was changed from a somolent, almost skeptical community to a swiftly growing city with a metropolitan population of the most rabid "oil-bugs" ever gathered in the Corsicana Deep Well Company J. H. Burke No. 1 for an initial production of between 5,000 and 10,000 barrels of 39 gravity oil, the first producer in the now world-famous Powell-Corsicana oil field that set records for drilling and production.

For more than three years various companies had put down tests in various parts of the eastern portion of the county, seeking a continuation of the fault fields found in adjoining counties. And shortly after the morning of Sunday, January 8, 1923 began, the initial producer blew in as the bit topped the sand. Within a few hours, acreage and royalty that had been begging for a purchaser saw prices of $600 to $1,000 per acre offered with no sales made at those low figures.

Within the next few hours leaders of the oil industry in all parts of the United States began to flock to Corsicana by every means of transportation, and within a few weeks one of the wildest drilling campaigns ever staged on the American continent ensued as company after company sought their share of wealth from the "flowing gold" of the Woodbine formations.

Word of the completion spread swiftly and on Sunday, only a few hours after the well was brought in, thousands visited the gusher as it flowed by heads about every 20 minutes, spouting its quota of oil far above the crownblocks on the top of the 112 foot derrick.

Once again, Corsicana, the pioneer oil field west of the Mississippi river, became the main topic of conversation in all parts of the nation, and became indelibly printed on the pages of the all-time history of the oil industry of the world.

ROOSEVELT TURNING AGAIN TO TASK OF FORMATION NEW GOVERNMENT FOR MARCH 4TH

By FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON, Associated Press Staff Writer.

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Jan. 7.—(AP)—President-elect Roosevelt, after making it clear that he is satisfied with the democratic program for this session of congress, is turning again to the task of forming a new government.

Foreign affairs are to receive early attention at a meeting soon between Mr. Roosevelt and Henry L. Stimson, President Herbert Hoover's secretary of state. The date has been fixed for this conference but has not been made public.

Whatever rowing may go on in congress over the details of new taxes to balance the budget, the President-elect is satisfied that as a result of Thursday night's parley in New York between himself and the party pliots of Capitol Hill a determined effort will be made to make government costs and income for next year meet.

The news that Speaker John N. Garner, vice president-elect was talking about "less painful" levies than the proposed income tax boost brought an expression of surprise here and a reply that the President-elect was leaving the details to congress

Leaving the busy New York City home at 4:30 yesterday afternoon, Mr. Roosevelt motored up the Hudson river valley to his estate here near Hyde Park.

This week-end and the next will be spent here. A visit from Governor Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, republican independent who was silent on the campaign but critical of the Hoover administration before and after, is on the program here.

Sandwiched between all the conferences of the President-elect are frequent and very secret discussions about the make up of his cabinet. In this connection the appearance of Swager Shirley, of Kentucky, at the Roosevelt meetings on finance, is regarded significantly. He is a former chairman of the house appropriations committee and is believed to rank high up among the possibilities for secretary of the treasury.

SWEEPING CHANGES ARE RECOMMENDED IN STATE'S GOVERNMENT

CENTRALIZED AUTHORITY AND ECONOMY URGED BY LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE

AUSTIN, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Revolutionary changes in the administrative set-up of the Texas state government, designed to centralize authority and responsibility for the economical operation of state functions, has been recommended to the legislature by a joint legislative committee on organization and economy.

The recommendations will be submitted at the regular session of the legislature starting next Tuesday. The committee has worked virtually two years making a survey of the government. It's recommendations provided for the reduction of the 131 governmental units into 19 composite departments, heads of which would be appointed by, and made directly responsible to, the governor in most instances.

Abolition of the department of agriculture was recommended. Its inspectional and administrative functions would be taken over by the extension service and agricultural experiment stations of Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College.

Abolition of the existing railroad commission, which has charge of administering oil and gas conservation statutes, was recommended. Its place would be taken by an appointed commissioner, with a three member appointive public service commission. The commission members now are elective.

The only state offices that would be elective under the ultimate objective of the committee would be those of governor, lieutenant governor and attorney general.

The department heads would serve in a proposed governor's cabinet, acting in an advisory capacity to the governor and to facilitate inter-departmental relations.

Provisions for the following proposed officers was made:

Governor, department of state, department of taxation and revenue, department of finance and administrative service, department of building and grounds, department of education, department of public welfare, department of public health, department of public safety, department of Militia, department of labor, department of banking, department of insurance, department of livestock, sanitary inspection, department of forests, fish and game, department of water supply and reclamation, general land office, department of highways, and a department of public service.

Educational Institutions.

The committee proposed to consolidate the institutions of higher learning into two main systems, the University of Texas and Texas A. and M. The boards of regents and boards of directors of all colleges would be abolished and the schools would be administered by presidents appointed by the board of education.

The School of Mines and Metallurgy at El Paso would be abandoned and turned over to the city of El Paso; Dallas and Tarrant counties would be presented with the North Texas Junior Agricultural College and the Southwest Texas State Teachers College would be abandoned and the property sold. The remainder of the teachers colleges, with the exception of the North Texas State Teachers College and the College of Arts and Industries, Sam Houston State Teachers College and Texas Technological College would be made Junior branches of the University of Texas or abandoned to local districts. North Texas College and the College of Arts and Industries would be consolidated.

In the section on the railroad commission, the committee stated that "popular election is about the poorest means possible for securing officials of adequate qualifications for technical duties."

Complaints Numerous.

The committee reported there had been "complaints under the existing organization of delays, decisions on insufficient presentation of facts, unsatisfactory policies of administration and ineffective and wasteful administration" under the existing railroad commission.

A department of public welfare would take over from the board of control the administration of the state's penal and charitable institutions, the child welfare bureau, the state service department for veterans and other social service enterprises. It also would assume the duties of the board of pardons and paroles and administration of Confederate pensions.

Merger of the Texas rangers with the state highway patrol into a department of public safety was proposed.

The existing bureau of labor statistics, the industrial accident board, the industrial commission, the state mining board and state mining inspector would be consolidated into the proposed department of labor.

Other Drastic Changes.

The livestock sanitary commission would be abolished and its functions placed in charge of a commissioner.

Consolidation of the board of water engineers and the reclamation department was proposed.

Unification of the judicial power into one great court, with a merger of the civil and criminal divisons, was advocated. The "too numerous" courts of civil appeals, district and county courts would be reduced. Justice, corporati n and county courts would be shorn of judicial functions.

Extension of the term of the attorney general from two to four years was recommended.

A consistent compensation plan, to be worked out on the basis of service and to be applied uniformly was advocated. The present method of selecting state employes was scored as "deplorable" and the existence of such a system as "preposterous."

Ferguson Discusses Relief.

HOUSTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—James E. Ferguson, husband of the Texas governor-elect, conferred here today with Jesse H. Jones, a director of the reconstruction finance corporation, on matters connected with the general problem of relief.

Ferguson, in an interview, [illegible] adequate relief for the unemployed families of Texas, and a sales tax to relieve farms, ranches and real estate of all ad valorem taxes were outstanding problems confronting the state.

Concerning the recommendations of the interim committee of the legislature for a wholesale reduction in bureaus, board and commissions, and the establishment of a cabinet form of government, Ferguson said the report should be carefully studied.

"All that glitters, is not gold," he quoted, "and all legislation is not meritorious just because it is raised under the flag of economy."

DEPUTY SHERIFF SLAIN IN BATTLE WITH BANK BANDIT

AMBUSH OF OFFICERS SEEKING CAPTURE ODELL CHAMBLESS COST ONE LIFE

DALLAS, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Three women and five men were in custody today as a state-wide search was started for Odell Chambless, 27, and a companion after Malcolm Davis, 52, deputy sheriff of Fort Worth, had been shot and killed at a house here.

The hunt for the pair was under the direction of Ranger Captain Tom Hickman, Smoot Schmid, Dallas sheriff, and W. R. (Red) Wright, Fort Worth sheriff. Wright said formal charges of accessory to murder would be filed against one of the women during the day.

Davis was killed last night after officers had laid in wait at the house in hope of trapping Chambless, wanted in connection with the $2,850 robbery of the Grapevine Home Bank Dec. 29.

A small coupe was sen to pass slowly by the house several times and finally stop in front of it. A man carrying a sawed-off shotgun got out of the car and walked up to the front porch.

Obeying instructions of officers, a woman who had been in the house all evening opened the front door. As she did so, the shooting began. The man on the porch fired through a window, officers inside dropped to the floor and returned the fire.

Deputy Davis and another officer, who had been guarding the back door, ran around to the front yard when the shooting started. The man who had remained in the car began firing at them, the man on the porch also turned his weapon on them.

Struck by two charges of buckshot, Deputy Davis fell mortally wounded. The man on the porch ran to the car and was driven away.

Other officers at the house with Deputy Davis, who was 52 years old, included W. G. Evans, investigator for the district attorney at Fort Worth; Deputy Sheriff Dusty Rhodes of Fort Worth; Special Ranger J. F. Vannoy, and Deputy Sheriff F. A. Bradberry of Dallas.

Alleged Confession.

Les Stewart, 20, of Arlington, already charged as one of the two men who staged the Grapevine holdup, made a written statement to officers at Fort Worth in which he purportedly admitted he also was one of the men who took $1,800 from the First tate Bank of Cedar Hill, in Dallas county on Nov. 25.

Chambless has been charged with robbery as Stewart's companion in the holdup. Stewart was captured shortly after the bank was looted.

Yesterday F. L. Whiteside, 32, a former Fort Worth motor bus driver, was arrested in Dallas and named as an accomplice of the men who robbed the Grapevine bank. A complaint charging robbery with firearms was filed against him.

Another Also Charged.

Raymond Hamilton, arrested recently in Bay City, Mich., has been charged in Dallas as one of the participants in the Cedar [illegible] robbery. Hamilton was returned to Dallas from Bay City and [illegible] is at Hillsboro, where murd charges have been lodged again him.

Officers said the woman at t house where Deputy Davis w killed is a sister of Hamilton.

Authenticity of the statemer Stewart made to officers concerning his part in the Grapevine and Cedar Hill robberies was affirmed to newspaper reporters by Stewart. He said he used the same pistol in both holdups.

COOLIDGE DIED AS HE HAD LIVED MUCH OF HIS LIFE. ALONE

FUNERAL TO BE HELD SATURDAY WITH BURIAL IN PLYMOUTH, VERMONT

By THOMAS HORGAN, JR.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Calvin Coolidge, thirtieth president of the union, who died yesterday, died much as he had lived—alone.

At "The Beeches," the home in which he sought seclusion, that tree-framed dwelling to which he repaired when the cares of a nation fell from his shoulders, the former president succumbed to a fatal heart attack.

He had whipped alder fringed Vermont streams, — alone, and quickened to the plunge of a speckled trout.

He had heard, alone, the whirr of the partridge as it left its tangled covert, when frosted autumn leaves called him to the hunting grounds of his ancestors.

So Calvin Coolidge was found, alone in his dressing room. No one saw the spirit depart, after he had returned from his law office. His secretary waited below, until he should be dismissed for lunch. His wife found him, as she returned home from marketing.

Earlier in the day Harry Ross, the secretary, had been called on by the former president to consider a jig-saw puzzle, a new year's gift.

Mrs. Coolidge had been away, to town, shopping, when the former president died. He had asked her if she cared to use the car, relic of the days they spent in Washington.

"It is too nice a day, I'd rather walk," she told him.

And so, home to that rug ed land of his ancestors, all that was mortal of Calvin Coolidge will thread the hills and v— that separate Massachusetts, a state that honored him before the nation, to Plymouth, Vermont, in a motor cortege Saturday; there to lie with his father, John, who swore him in by the light of an oil lamp as the nation's chief executive many years ago, and his son, Calvin, Jr., cut off in young manhood.

Back In Native Soil.

Back to the thin surface of soil from which his ancestors fought a livelihood, after simple services in Edwards Congregational church here, will go the body of Calvin Coolidge

Each Sunday Calvin and Grace Coolidge attended services at the Edwards Congregational church. They left promptly, at the end of the services, before curious or others, could intrude.

There will be an organist and a choir, Saturday morning. Grace Coolidge had been accustomed to add her voice to that choir, and found in the recent Christmas musical program an enchantment obvious to the congregation.

The widespread desire of people in official life to honor the former president will make the funeral a most impressive ceremony despite the desire to keep the services simple and brief.

The presidential special, carrying President Hoover from Washington, will arrive Saturday morning and another special train, carrying congressional representatives and other high officials, is expected.

Homefolk Shocked.

Heartfelt tributes came from throughout the world.

The homefolk, back in Coolidge's native Vermont hills, were shocked by the suddenness of his death. There was no comment or visible sign of sorrow in Plymouth, Vt. Men and women went about their chores hiding their feelings, like the man they mourned.

Mrs. Coolidge still wore her street costume when she came upon her husband prostrate on the floor. She hurried down the stair case, calling for Harry Ross, who was more than a secretary—perhaps a companion—to the former president.

"She bore up bravely, remarkably, bravely," said Ross, afterwards. And then Ross called the family doctor, and Mr. Coolidge's son, John, from New Haven. John came to Northampton as fast as an automobile could bring him, and then came Frank W. Stearns, Boston merchant, known since the days Calvin Coolidge occupied the state house at Boston as his adviser. Elderly Frank Stearns was so overcome by the sudden and unexpected termination of a long standing friendship that he could not discuss it, even through a secretary who accompanied him.

Messages From World.

William Whiting, Holyoke paper manufacturer, who succeeded Herbert Hoover as secretary of commerce, and his wife, were among the first to arrive after death spread its wings over the "Beeches." They arrived as messenger boys peddled up the graveled walk with missives of condolences from the nation's great—Herbert Hoover, his successor, and Alfred E. Smith, who sought that honor.

There were other messages; and wires still hum Trains will continue to debark notables, but those who will follow Calvin Coolidge home will trace a tortuous trail, through the hills and valleys and "notches"—more than a hundred miles to the northward—to the ancestral home of the Coolidges at Plymouth, Vt.

There Calvin Coolidge told his secretary a few minutes before he died, he hoped to spend even longer stays as the years advanced.

Saturday he will return to the chortling trout streams of Vermont, to the alder thickets where the ruffled grouse drum—to the cloud fringed hill tops of his birth.

Health Was Cause Nomination Refusal

LOWELL, Mass., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers today disclosed that four years ago Calvin Coolidge said his physical condition would not endure four more years of the presidency.

In a letter to friends here Mrs. Rogers, who is now in Washington, said she had talked with the former president at the White House on the day Herbert Hoover was nominated for the presidency in 1928.

"Mr. President," Mrs. Rogers said, "you could have been renominated and re-elected."

"But my health would never stand it," Mr. Coolidge replied, Mrs. Rogers said.

NATION'S CAPITAL MOURNED PASSING CALVIN COOLIDGE

PRESIDENT AND OTHERS TO ATTEND FUNERAL; CONGRESS RESUMED WORK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—In sorrow at the death of Calvin Coolidge, the capital suspended many of its activities today and national leaders arranged to pay the former president a last tribute by attending his funeral at Northampton.

President Hoover and a large party go north on a special train tonight for the last rites.

The senate, over which Mr. Coolidge presided as vice-president, adjourned almost immediately upon meeting, to hold no more sessions until Monday.

Speaker Garner announced there would be no session of the house tomorrow, as a mark of respect during the funeral.

Chief Justice Hughes, who was secretary of state in the Coolidge cabinet, and Justice Stone, who was his attorney general, will attend the funeral—going on the train from here.

Before senate adjournment, the Rev. ZeBarney T. Phillips, its chaplain, paid tribute to the former president.

Resolutions Are Presented

Then Vice-President Curtis recognized Senator Walsh of Massachusetts to present a resolution expressing profound sorrow

The message President Hoover sent to the capitol yesterday announcing the death formally to congress, and which was read only in the house, was presented to the senate.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, the republican leader, said the committee of senators and representatives would leave Washington on the presidential special at 12:30 a. m. and arrive in Northampton at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

Original plans for accompanying the funeral party to the burial ground at Plymouth, Vt., by automobile, Watson said, had been abandoned and the congressional committee will return to Washington on the president's train.

Twenty-four senators were named on the committee as follows:

Delegates Go By Train.

The congressional representation was completed by the house members whom Speaker Garner appointed yesterday:

Representative Rainey of Illinois, democratic floor leader and Snell of New York, republican floor leader; Representatives Montague of Virginia, Treadway of Massachusetts, Darrow of Pennsylvania, Tinkham, Luce, Underhill and Connery of Massachusetts, Gilbert of Vermont, Greenwood of Indiana, Douglass of Massachusetts, Douglas of Arizona, McCormack and Granfield of Massachusetts.

With the capital mourning already launched, military orders went out to army and navy posts and ships both at home and abroad to observe the funeral tomorrow with the solemn tribute due a president or ex-president.

The diplomatic corps took part in the mourning. Acting as dean of the corps Paul Claudel, ambassador of France, called on the president to express the condolences of his colleagues.

A wreath will be sent by him to the funeral ceremonies

After the senate adjourned, it was decided to increase the senatorial funeral committee to 25 and Senator Smoot, of Utah, Dean of the senate, was added to the list. The Utahan at first had thought he could not leave his duties in connection with the appropriations committee.

Full Military Honors Given Ex-President

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—On land and sea, at 30-minute intervals today, the guns of American ships and forts reminded those in the vicinity that Calvin Coolidge was dead.

Beginning an hour after the thirteen guns fired at reveille, one gun was fired every half hour until retreat. The regulations, similar for army and navy, called for a 48-gun salute to the Union immediately after retreat.

The regulations prescribing the military and naval tribute that shall be paid the memory of a former president are the same as those for a president.

In posts in different quarters of the globe, the men of the three services heard read the official order of the secretaries of war and navy announcing the death of Mr. Coolidge.

On the day of the funeral, while the body is being taken to the place of interment, twenty-one gun salutes will be fired at all posts equipped with the necessary personnel an dmaterial.

All flags will be lowered to half staff and officers will wear the badge of military mourning around the left sleeve of their uniform for thirty days.

Vermont Is Honored By Coolidge Verse

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Calvin Coolidge, the austere leader, was also a writer of verse. Here is an original poem he read at Bennington, Vt., in 1928:

Vermont is a state I love.
I could not look
Upon the peaks
Of a Scutney, Killington,
Ainsfield and Equinox
Without being moved
In a way that no other scene
Could move me!

It was there
That I first saw
The light of Day;
Here I received my bride,
Here my dead lie,
Pillowed on the loving breast
Of our everlasting hills.

If the spirit of liberty
Should vanish in other parts
Of the union.
And support of our institutions
Should languish,
It all could be replenished
From the general store
Held by the people
Of this brave little state
Of Vermont.

CALVIN COOLIDGE BURIED IN FAMILY PLOT AT PLYMOUTH

LAST RITES FOR THIRTIETH PRESIDENT OF UNITED STATES SATURDAY

PLYMOUTH, Vt., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Calvin Coolidge was placed in the grave beside his forebears this afternoon. In a sloping hillside cemetery the 30th president of the United States was laid to rest while hundreds of Vermonters and mourners who had attended the funeral services earlier in the day at Northampton, Mass., stood in respectful silence.

After services attended by the nation's great at Northampton the Coolidge funeral cortege moved northward into the hills of the state where Calvin Coolidge was born. Here his own people awaited him.

Men with plaid trousers and high boots who had trudged over green mountain paths to this small hamlet joined with executives of Vermont and other nearby states in paying their final tribute to the former president.

Rev. Albert Penner, who conducted the services in Northampton in the morning stood by the grave in the sunshine which forced its way through the clouded sky but a short time before the committal services and intoned a prayer for the dead. He said:

"Unto Almight God we commend the soul of our brother departed, and we therefore commit his body to the ground; earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust; in the sure and certain hope that as he was borne the image of the earthly, he shall also bear the image of the heavenly.

"The dust returns unto the earth as it was; and the spirit has returned unto God who gave it.

"None of us liveth to himself, and none dieth to himself. For whether we live, we live unto the Lord; or whether we die, we die unto the Lord; whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lord's.

"I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, write, blessed are the dead who die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the spirit, that they may rest from their labors, and their works do follow them."

And with these words Calvin Coolidge was returned forever to the state that gave him birth.

PLYMOUTH, Vt., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Following is the committal service as it was read over the grave of Former President Calvin Coolidge today by the Rev. Albert J. Penner, pastor of Edwards Congregational church, Northampton:

"All that the Father giveth me shall come unto me; and him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out.

"He that raised up Jesus from the dead will also quicken your mortal bodies by the spirit which dwelleth in you.

"Wherefore my heart is glad, and my glory rejoiceth; my flesh also shall rest in hope.

"Thou shalt show me the path of life: in Thy presence is the fullness of joy: and at Thy right hand there is pleasure for evermore."

Committal

"Unto Almighty God we commend the soul of our brother departed, and we therefore commit his body to the ground; earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust; in the sure and certain hope that as he has borne the image of the earthly, he shall also bear te image of the heavenly.

"The dust returns unto the earth as it was; and the spirit has returned unto God who gave it.

"None of us liveth to himself, and none dieth to himself. For whether we live, we live unto the Lord; or whether we die, we die unto the Lord; whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lord's.

"I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, write, Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the spirit, that they may rest from their labors, and their works do follow them."

Prayer

"O God, Thou King Eternal, immortal, invisible, may we who cannot see the with the eye of the flesh, beyond the steadfastly with the eye of faith. And grant that having fulfilled Thy will upon earth, we may beyond Thy face in heaven, and be made partakers of those unspeakable joys which Thou hast promised to them who love Thee. In His name we ask it. Amen."

Poem by Robert Richardson:

"Warm Summer sun
Shine kindly here.
Warm Southern wind.
Blow softly here.
Green sod above,
Lie light, lie light.
Good night, dear heart,
Good, night, good night."

Benediction.

"The God of peace, who brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus Christ, the Great Shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the Everlasting Covenant; make you perfect in every good work to do His will, working in you that which is well pleasing in His sight; through Jesus Christ, to whom be glory forever and ever. Amen."

Vermont Awaits Body Native Son

PLYMOUTH, Vt., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Vermont waited in this little community today to welcome home Calvin Coolidge.

While the funeral cortege was coming up the highways from Northampton, Mass., townsfolks, old friends and state officials moved into Plymouth to say farewell to a native son.

A company of national guard came to handle vehicular and pedestrian traffic.

A guard was placed at the road leading to the cemetery. The Coolidge homestead where Aurora Pierce kept lonely vigil also was under guard. Miss Pierce a housekeeper in the household for nearly 25 years, at first decided to remain away from the services because of the rain. Later after the sun had come out she decided to go to the cemetery.

She said she had received no word from Northampton, where the former president died suddenly last Thursday and the point from which the body was started on its last journey toay. An unopened telegram lay on the table, however; the same table at which Calvin Coolidge took the oath of office as president of the United States in the early hours of the morning ten years ago.

A little flag, at half staff, fluttered from the eaves over the porch on which Mr. Coolidge often had rested after supper.

Along the road, farmers peered from their cowbarns and woodsheds, awaiting a sight of the funeral caravan. At one spot on a sharp turn in the road, a farmer had planted a small flag, nailed to the center of a pole, on his front lawn.

The roads were slippery from rain which had fallen earlier but state highway department trucks spread load after load of sand and gravel on its surface. Black clouds scudded overhead and a resumption of the rain was expected momentarily.

Come From All Parts State

From all over Vermont but particularly from the surrounding countryside, people came to pay their respects to Mr. Coolidge.

The came by horse, bu automobile and on foot. Tall, lithe men who make their living on farms and in the woods shuffled in, some wearing heavy plaid trousers and high top boots. A large area across from the general store was set off for parking the automobiles which were allowed to pass through the lines held by the national guard at the foot of Notch mountain, the gateway to this tiny village, which is nestled in green mountain peaks.

Silent crowds gathered in front of the general store, now and then glancing up the road that leads south to Ludlow and over which the funeral procession would pass.

Sun Comes Out.

PLYMOUTH, Vt., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Like a final bension, the sun came over Salt Ash mountain shortly before two o'clock today, as the body of Former President Coolidge passed through Brattleboro on the way to its last resting place here.

At daybreak the sky was heavy and black clouds sped across the sky. A few hours later it rained. Then the sun came, filtering through scattering clouds.

Crowds Line Route.

EN ROUTE TO PLYMOUTH, VT., WITH COOLIDGE FUNERAL CARTEG, Jan. 7.—(AP)—As the funeral cortege escorting the body of Calvin Coolidge from Northampton, Mass., to Plymouth, Vt., passed along the highways twoard its destination, crowds lined the route in a farewell tribute to the former president.

Hundreds of cars were parked by the roadside and residents of communities through which the procession passed stood bareheaded in the rain that fell steadily.

The cortege passed through Deerfield, Mass., at 1 p. m. It was moving at a thirty-mile-an-hour pace and this speed was maintained much of the time.

In Bernardston the pupils of a small school, about twenty in number, were lined in two rows outside of the building as the funeral cars passed.

Anderson County Oil Test Be made

FAIRFIELD, Jan. 7.—(Spl.)—Daniel Oil and Royalty company, headed by Bryan Daniel, of Fairfield, has let a contract for drilling a test well on a large block of acreage between Tucker in Anderson county and the Trinity river. Drilling will start about Feb. 20.

Daniel who has been successful in lease and oil operations, is said to have under lease 12,000 acres extending from two miles north of Tucker to Harding's Store in Freestone county, about 8,000 acres in Freestone and 4,000 acres in Anderson counties.

With Flu Around All Colds Now More Dangerous

Colds lower Body Resistance and Often Pave the Way For Flu and Its Serious Complications.

EXTRA PRECAUTION URGED

With flu increasing in many sections of the country, health authorities urge everyone to take extra precautions against colds just now.

The safest course to follow is that outlined in Vicks Plan for better Control-of-Colds. Briefly, it is this:

To Prevent Many Colds.

At that first feeling of stuffiness or nasal irritation, sniffle or sneeze—Nature's usual warning that a cold is coming on—use Vicks Nose and Threat Drops, the new aid in preventing colds. Vicks Drops aid Nature in throwing off the infection that threatens. They prevent development of many colds.

To End a Cold Sooner.

If a cold has developed, of strike without warning, vigorous measures are necessary. At bedtime, message throat and chest well with Vicks VapoRub. It acts two ways at once to bring relief: By Stimulation through the skin, like a poultice or plaster; and by Inhalation of its medicated vapors direct to irritated air-passages. During the day—for added comfort and relief—use the convenient Vicks Nose Drops every few hours as needed.

Plan Tested and Proved.

In clinical tests among thousands last winter, Vicks Colds-Control Plan reduced the number and duration of colds by half—cut the costs and dangers of colds more than half. How you can follow the Plan in your home is fully explained in each Vicks package.—Adv.

HIGH DIGNITARIES OF NATION ATTEND SIMPLE CEREMONIES

BODY FORMER PRESIDENT LAY IN STATE FOR HOUR PREVIOUS TO SERVICES

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Jan. 7.—(AP)—The Nation he served gave its last honors today to Calvin Coolidge, 30th President of the United States. Friends and neighbors, the leaders in public life where he once walked, the high and the lowly, joined to pay their final respects in a brief and simple funeral service.

President Hoover who took up the burden Calvin Coolidge laid down in Washington not quite four years ago, the vice president, the chief justice of the United States, others in the national government and the chief executives of states of his native New England were there.

In the congregation that filled the few hundred seats of the Jonathan Edwards Congregational church, were also Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and James Roosevelt, the wife and the son of the man who, in a few weeks will take the office Calvin Coolidge once held as president.

Outside, in the street, beneath a chill, gray sky, a crowd unable to gain admittance to the church, stood silently, heads bowed as the service moved to a close.

They parted to form a reverent lane, through which the casket was borne later to the motor hearse in which it began the 100 mile drive northward to the old homestead at Plymouth, Vt., there to be laid to rest in the family burial plot.

Mrs. Coolidge, with her only son, John, and his wife at her side, sat through the service in a front pew. With her, in the same pew, were President and Mrs. Hoover, directly before them, and below the flower banked pulpit, stood the casket.

The presidents' widow wore no mourning veil. She was pale, but her face was calm and serene.

Other High Officials.

Vice President Curtis and Chief Justice Hughes occupied seats in a pew to the right of Mrs. Coolidge and the president.

Behind Mrs. Coolidge, Mrs. Roosevelt and her son occupied a pew and nearby sat Secretary of State Stimson and others high in the national government. In the congregation, too, were representatives of foreign governments, the French ambassador and others.

It was a few minutes before 10:30, when the service was to begin, that the president and Mrs. Hoover entered. As they walked to their pew, the organist played the soft movement from the "New World" symphony, through which run the strains of an old negro spiritual. "Going Home."

Mrs. Coolidge had asked that it be played.

The president sat with his head bowed, rising with the congregation, as Mrs. Coolidge entered the auditorium.

The Rev. Albert J. Penner, youthful pastor of a very old church, took his place in the pulpit.

Lead Kindly Light.

He uttered a brief invocation and a quartet sang "Lead Kindly Light." The clergyman read the Scripture and began his prayer in which were the only references to the former president.

"It is not alone a grief-stricken nation which bows before Thee," the prayer said, "it is a thankful nation, as well.

"We thank Thee for the life of him whose death we now mourn. We thank Thee for the exemplary devotion which he showed the discharge of all his public duties. We thank Thee for the faithfulness with which he served his town.

"We thank Thee for the measure of dedication which he brought to the service of the commonwealth. And, above all, do we bless Thee for the consecra country in the highest office within the gift of the people. He kept the faith which the people placed in him.

"* * * May we not begrudge him, whose loss we so deeply mourn, the rest with Thee which he has so richly deserved, knowing that by Thy mercy and grace he finished his course, having kept the faith."

Bow in Silence.

As he arose to begin his prayer, the congregation, at the request of the clergyman, sat for a moment in silence, with bowed heads.

Softly, the choir sang, "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go."

There was a very brief benediction, and Mrs. Coolidge and the members of her party left the church.

As they filed out of the pew, Mrs. Coolidge turned and with a tender smile, linked her arm within that of her daughter-in-law.

In silence the congregation remained standing after she had left, while the muted strains of "Nearer, My God, to Thee," came as a benediction from the organ out over the grey bronze casket and the flowers, into the auditorium.

A moment later president and Mrs. Hoover left the church. Rain pattered gently down as they passed through the waiting crowd and entered their automobile to drive to "The Beeches" to convey their message of personal sympathy to Mrs. Coolidge.

The funeral cortege moved slowly out of Northampson a few minutes after noon in the direction of Greenfield and the Vermont state line.

It was escorted only by Motorcycle police at the head of the line. There were nine cars, the hearse third in line. Mrs. Coolidge and her son and daughter-in-law were in the car immediately behind.

Thousands lined the sidewalks in Northampton and along the route northward.

Policemen Pall Bearers.

Six policemen of the Northampton police department were chosen for active pallbearers, while the honorary bearers were all old friends of the dead president. They were William F. Whiting of Holyoke, former secretary of commerce; Frank W. Stearns, Boston business man who was the former president's closest adviser; Clifford H. Lyman, Northampton book dealer; Judge Thos. J. Hammond of the superior court; Reuben B. Hills, manufacturer; Walter L. Stevens of Northampton, attorney; R. W. Hemenway, former law partner of Mr. Coolidge's; William M. Butler, former U. S. Senator; Homer C. Bliss, mayor of Northampton; John H. Trumbull, former governor of Connecticut and Charles E. Andrews, treasurer of Amherst college.

Last night the body lay in the comfortable living room of "The Beeches," the Coolidge home since his retirement from the presidency. A greyish bronze casket with white satin lining rested upon standards in front of a fireplace at the East end of the room. Across the top was etched:

"Calvin Coolidge.

Burial Clothes.

The former president was dressed in morning clothes, striped trousers, wing collar, four-in-hand tie with light white stripe, on the third finger of his left hand, folded over his right, was a black intaglio ring.

His head inclined slightly to the right. The expression was untroubled, serene. Glass covered the opened portion of the casket.

On the wall over the mantel just above hung an oil painting of the Mayflower—the one-time presidential yacht. At either end of the mantel there stood seven-branch candlebras with blue candles, unlit.

Spaced two feet apart, so that they were even with the sides of the painting were two vases. One of them held a rambling plant of large leaves that clung to the top of the picture frame.

At either side of the fireplace were casement windows. In a corner at the opposite end of the room was a grand piano, a music book opened on its panel—opened to "Vi Elsker Vort Land". "Danske Tanker" and "Vuggesong."

Flowers Fill Vases.

Scattered over the room in vases, arranged simply and sparingly, were flowers, orchids, roses, asters, selected from flowers sent in.

Oil portraits of Coolidge, Mrs. Coolidge and Calvin, Jr., hung on the walls. There also was an oil painting depicting the scene in Plymouth when Colonel John Coolidge, notary public, administered the oath of office to his son by the light of an oil lamp. There were several photographs, family groups, and a portrait of Tim, Mrs. Coolidges Chow dog.

Tim wandered about the room last night, sometimes curling up under the piano and sometimes shoving his cold nose into the hands of the visitors.

Mrs. Coolidge retired for the night shortly after the body was placed in the room. John Coolidge, Frank W. Stearns and Harry Ross, Coolidge's last secretary, were in and out.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Hundreds of men and women, some accompanied by chilren, fled through the Edwards Congregational church this morning to look for the last time at the face of Calvin Coolidge, thirtieth president of the United States.

The body of the former president lay in state within the church amid a profusion of flowers. An armed soldier stood at either end of the bier.

Out of a massed throng that choked the wide street and pressed tightly against the front of the church, a steady stream of people from all walks of life—young and old—filtered in through the church doorway.

They came out solemn-faced. Now and then a woman dabbed her eyes. Two little boys sobbed. Some of the women were visibly grief-stricken.

The line, in entering, moved down an aisle on the right. Double file and sometimes three abreast, it thinned down to single file as it passed the grey bronze casket. The muted organ sounded solemn music.

Ordered Move Faster.

Allowed to linger at first, the people were asked to move more and more quickly as it became apparent that the ever-growing crowd in front of the church would not be able to file through in the brief period allotted—less than an hour. The line moved out reluctantly, casting back last glances at the casket and its banked flowers.

The wailing crowd outside remained orderly and quiet. The skies above were grey, the atmosphere chill.

Over the large front door was draped black crepe. Steadily, from all sides, the crowd pressed toward it. There was a narrow break in the throng where the police maintained a lane for traffic.

Beyond the lane, the crowd was densely packed, overflowing curbs, sidewalks and lawns—waiting anxiously for an opportunity to join those nearer the red brick church.

Aged Man Salutes.

The time for the closing of the church doors drew near and hundreds still stood in the street, hoping to enter. The line was passing the bier at a rate of about 20 a minute.

Within the church an aged man drew himself stiffly erect before the bier of the former president, saluted, and then moved on.

The church a door closed at 9:30, leaving hundreds disappointed in the street outside. The doors of the gallery then were opened for the funeral services and the seats promptly were filled.

A half hour after the door of the church was closed, the special train bearing President and Mrs. Hoover from Washington reached the station.

The Washington delegation, which included in addition to the president and Mrs. Hoover, members of the cabinet, and supreme court department heads, members of congress and other national figures—old friends and associates of President Coolidge—left the train at once preparatory to attending the funeral servics at the church.

Silence Reigned.

All was silent within the square, austure church auditorium as the hour for the funeral services approached, except for the soft flow of melody from the organ.

Outside, the crowd was swelling in numbers, choking the street. Thousands stood there, with no hope of entry, waiting for a glimpse of the notables arriving for the services.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and her son, James, entered the church at 10:20 a. m., and were escorted to the third center pew.

A few minutes later, Mrs. Coolidge and her son, John, entered by a side door and went immediately to the office of the pastor. Mrs. Coolidge was dressed in black, unveiled. She walked unassisted.

President Enters.

President and Mrs. Hoover entered the church at 10:30 a. m.

The president and Mrs. Hoover walked down the aisle to seats reserved for them in the first row. Mrs. Hoover was attired in black with a touch of white at her throat.

Nearby pews were held open for Chief Justice Hughes, Associate Justice Stone and other members of the president's party, including the large senate and house delegations.

Paul Claudel, French ambassador, arrived by another train in time to attend the ceremonies. M. Claudel represented the foreign diplomatic corps, as its dean.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Jan. 7.—(AP)—The body of Calvin Coolidge was moved from his home at 8:10 a. m., today and taken to the Edwards Congregational Church to lie in state and await funeral rites.

The hearse was preceded by a single motorcycle officer and the undertaker's car as it drove away from the home. A small group of people, mostly children, was gathered at the gate of "The Beeches." Some followed the procession on foot.

A crowd of several hundred persons, apparently townspeople who had come for the most part afoot to gaze for the last time on the face of their distinguished neighbor, stood in silence as the casket was borne into the church.

Before the flower banked altar the casket was placed, and two national guardsmen, Sgt. John I. Manning and Corp. Francis Lord of Company G, the Northampton company of the 104th Infantry, took their positions at its head and foot as guard of honor.

Day Was Cloudy.

The morning was cloudy, and the distant hills were darkly etched against a gray sky.

Shortly before the body of the former president was taken to the church, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and James Roosevelt, wife and son of the President-elect, arrived in Northampton from New York. They went to a hotel for breakfast.

The distance from "The Beeches" to the church is about a mile, through quiet streets bordered by huge old shade trees. Here and there groups silently watched as the cars drove by.

Inside the church the quiet was broken only by the muffled tread of feet, as the casket was borne up the aisle, and whispered instructions as final preparations were completed before the crowd was admitted.

White ribbons had been tied across the entrances to the Coolidge pew. Several pews in the front of the church, at the right of the pulpit, had been reserved for President Hoover and the other notables from Washington.

President Hoover And Party Arrive

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Jan. 7.—(AP)—President Hoover's special train left Northampton at 11:45 a. m., today after the President and his party had attended funeral services for Calvin Coolidge. The President will return to Washington.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Jan. 7.—(AP)—President and Mrs. Hoover and a special train bearing a Washington delegation to the funeral services of former President Coolidge arrived here at 10 a. m. The presidential party arrived one-half hour before the services for Mr. Coolidge were scheduled to begin. They left the train under escort.

The delegation included members of the cabinet, department heads, members of congress and other national figures who were friends and associates of the former president during his terms in office.

A large crowd was gathered at the railroad station to greet the chief executive as he came to pay his last respects to his predecessor.

In the President's immediate party were Mrs. Hoover, Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, Associate Justice Stone, Secretary of State Stimson, Secretary of the Navy Adams, and Secretary of Commerce Chapin.

Cause of Death.

NORTHAMPTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The death certificate for Calvin Coolidge, filed today with City Clerk James R. Mansfield, certified that the cause of death was "probabiy coronary thrombosis."

The certificate was signed by Dr. Edward W. Brown, county medical examiner and the Coolidge family physician. It listed the former president as a "lawyer (retired)."

The name of Mrs. Coolidge was given as the "informant."

Memorial Stamp Suggested.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—On behalf of the Massachusetts Congressional delegation, Senator Walsh of that state today recommended to the Post Office department the issuance of a memorial stamp in commemmoration of the late President Coolidge.

STATE BUDGET TO BE CUT FAR BELOW AMOUNTS REQUESTED

STATE BOARD OF CONTROL MAKES ESTIMATE OF OVER THIRTY-TWO MILLIONS

AUSTIN, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Requests made to the board of control for appropriations to run the judiciary, Eleemosynary, departmental, and educational divisions of the state government for the biennium ending August 31, 1935, were pared $14,983,499 in recommendations made by the budgetry agency to the legislature.

A net budget of $32,619,557 from the general revenue fund was recommended by the board. Gross recommendations were $38,260,074, including items chargeable to the special funds. Requests aggregated $53,243,573.

Salaries of employes and officials receiving more than $1,200 annually, except in instances where they are fixed by the constitution, were cut from six to fifteen per cent. Those receiving more than $1,200 a year were cut six per cent and those getting in excess of $9,800 were reduced 15 per cent.

Recommendations of the board for the four divisions, were as follows (the first group of figures being for the first year and the second group for the second year):

Judiciary $2,304,120; $2,302,500.

Eleemosynary $4,552,179; 4,540,379.

Departmental $6,961,062; $6,760,723.

Educational $5,419,647; $5,419,464.

Appropriations for maintenance of those divisions for the biennium ending on next August 31, aggregated $45,856,034, or $7,595,960 more than it is proposed be allocated to them the next two years. Those figures did not take into account, however, revenue expected from certain self supporting agencies.

The recommendations did not provide for any new buildings for educational institutions, nor do they include rural aid, which amounted to $5,000,000 for the current biennium.

Only Few Buildings.

A few necessary buildings were recommended for eleemosynary institutions, these including two dormitories for the Abilene state hospital and two ward buildings for the Wichita Falls state hospital.

Requests for the educational institutions were cut into deeply, reductions aggregating almost fifty per cent. For the first year $249,115 had been asked and the second year $9,530,365.

It was recommended that University of Texas pay from available fund, comprising revenues obtained from bonus rentals and returns from ments of its oil royalty received from West Texas taxes on those lands due Texas counties and $800,000 itimized appropriations. Before the taxes have been paid of the state's general revenue fund and nothing had been contributed from the university's available fund toward the appropriations for that institution's maintenance.

It was proposed that the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College pay $235,000 from its share of the university available fund and $20,900 from its federal land grant endowment toward the itemized appropriations for its maintenance.

BANK ASSETS

When the United States treasury offered $250,000,000 one year certificates to the public a few days ago, with interest at the rate of only three-fourths of one per cent a year, the issue was over subscribed 16 times. And yet not long ago, some issues of government bonds were selling to net over four per cent.

This desire for securities that will be absolutely safe, even if they pay so very little interest, is the result of the panicky feeling developed when the depositors of thousands of banks demanded their money right away quick. It led bankers everywhere to feel that they must have their assests in such shape that they could get a large part of their funds in cash at once, regardless of whether they get any considerable interest or not.

Here we can see a condition that is tying up business everywhere, and it must be cured before we can have good business. If bankers feel that they must have their money in such investments that they can produce a great mountain of cash all at once, naturally they are not going to lend their money to build houses with, or finance factory operation, or enable merchants to purchase goods.

The public has greatly actuated this situation, by runs on many banks that were perfectly sound. A bank may have a large part of its money in excellent assets, which are worth 100 cents on a dollar and much more than that. But if the bank had to sell those assets all at once, it might have to take a large loss.

We need new systems of banking regulation that will require greater caution in managing financial institutions, so that the public will not have reason to become alarmed about its deposits. But the public must get into a calmer temper of mind, and not force sound institutions into bankruptcy by unreasonable demands.

AUTO MAGIC.

"I don't own a car"—the admission has a guilty ring, so guilty that it must be accompanied by explanations or defenses in this year 1933 when the average retail price of an automobile is probably less than $750. And what a car it is! It can stand examination with a critical eye—surely it seems as if the mechanical road millennium has dawned.

The sighs of those who bemoan the passing of old craftsmanship — or what avail are they in the face of this miracle wrought by automatic machines and mass production? Not for $10,000 could the old artisans have produced this graceful efficient and comfortable vehicle costing less on an average than $800.

For these reasons the 1933 automobile shows will assume an extraordinary economic importance. The new cars meet the requirements of a diminished national income and still come up to the higher standards set by the car-buying public. They conform to changed conditions.

Four or five years ago the poorest car could find enough buyers to net its makers a profit. Today the market is smaller and knows good auto flesh. Every automobile show will exhibit nothing but thoroughbreds this year.

When nations bar one another's products, that is statesmanship. But when an animal gets mad and bites itself, it is called dumb.

JUST FOLKS

PRAYER

Grant us, O Lord, these for our need:
The strength and courage for the deed;
The vision that can see beyond
The joys of which we're all so fond
And for tomorrow work and wait,
Though now is trouble at the gate.

Grant us that humor that can smile
Though care besets us for the while.
Let us not whimper, purple lipped,
That we of pomp and sham are stripped,
But let us play our parts as men
Until success is ours again.

Lord, through the hard days and the long
Let us remember to be strong:
Teach us that calmness which can see
How fleeting pleasure has to be.
Grant us to recognize and know
That sorrows come, and sorrows go.
Lord, after anguish and despair
Teach us that follow mornings fair.
Hearten us all our parts to play.
From loss let no man run away.
And in the end grant us to see
Just how much richer we shall be.

HOMELESS WANDERERS.

From the great cities come distressing tales of homeless men. Crowds of these pathetic folks creep in at night to public shelters, like wild animals crawling into their holes. Next day they will continue their aimless wanderings, they know not where.

The family that sits down tonight at its quiet fireside here in Corsicana warmed and fed, should give a thought to these homeless folks. Where do they come from? How became they homeless? Are they to blame? Is society at fault?

Probably the majority of them got into this condition as a result of a natural roving habit. Such ones were too indolent, too lacking in concentration, to settle down in some job. No employer wants such ones.

Yet many of them started a wandering career as a result of a real hope to find work. The elusive will-o-the-wisp of jobs lured them on from town to town. When they got to a place, there was always someone ahead of them.

These people must belong somewhere. Perhaps many of them come from broken homes, many have no ties of any kind. Some have tramped so long that all memory of them has disappeared. But some of them, particularly the younger fellows of whom so many are wandering, came away recently enough so they could claim help in the old home town. They should swallow their pride down hard, quit roving and go home.

Humane sentiment says that even the most confirmed vagrant must be warmed and fed, even though his bed be only in a police station. But the plight of these miserable folks should be a warning. Young men who contemplate wandering about the country should reflect that path leads straight to Homelesstown. If one once gets there, he will probably never return. Stick at home, boys, where you belong, and if you are willing to work you will get either employment or help.

NEW YEARS OF OLD.

Ever since man first noted the cyclic sequence of nature he has probably celebrated a New Year's Day, but he has not always celebrated it on January 1 or the early equivalent of that date in the cycle of seasons.

Being essentially a creature of nature man originally placed the beginning of the new year in the spring when life was reborn. The ancient Jewish year began on March 25 and the early Roman calendar set March as the first month of the year. It was not until the seventh century B. C. that the winter solstice, or the shortest day of the year, was arbitrarily fixed as the first day of the year. Thus it remained until Julius Caesar advanced New Year's Day to January 1.

Nor has New Year's Day always been marked by the same observance. It is not likely that there was much celebrating in Caesar's tributaries, which paid their annual tribute in gold or goods on that day. Ancient Rome celebrated the pagan feast of Anecylia. The Druidical rite of exchanging gifts under the sacred mistletoe has a long history in Ireland.

New Year's Day is a time for religious observance and festive fete in China and Japan. From them the Western World probably borrowed the custom of settling up old debts on the first day of the year.

The New Year's resolution is a survival of the custom among the early Romans of pledging themselves to reforms of both personal and political character on the first day of the year, pledges they broke quite as easily as the modern resolution is broken.

DISTRIBUTION COSTS

Slowing up of the great American industrial structure is attributed in some quarters to the failure of the distribution system; it being argued that the bridge between the producer and the consumer was not strong enough.

Some light on the subject is given by a trade association executive, who has traced the rise in the cost of selling over a period of a hundred years.

Among his conclusions are that the peak will not be reached for another decade, that the human factor more than changing modes and modern services is responsible for the higher cost of selling, and that customer psychology today calls for more sales effort.

Trade distribution costs reached a new high this year, payroll expenses accounting for 60 per cent of them, which does not necessarily mean that selling has become a lost art. The old high-pressure is as well oiled as ever, but the sales resistance is stronger.

No longer do the American people buy the first thing the merchant offers them. They have become discriminating and informed shoppers, knowing what they want and determined to get it. The average customer today "shops" twice as long before buying as in 1917.

These are problems the merchant and manufacturer must work out for themselves. There is a chance that they can use them to their own advantage.

A human being is a creature who demands truth in advertising when the new car develops one less mile per hour than advertised, but is satisfied if he gets a few weeds from the never-fail seeds ordered from the seed catalog.

Light fiction is being written by authors who get their ideas by wading across a sloppy street.

You can have your ups and downs and still be on the level.

DEATH OF COOLIDGE OUTSTANDING NEWS OF WORLD CAPITALS

HIGH TRIBUTES PAID BY FOREIGN LEADERS TO CHARACTER OF MAN

LONDON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The passing of Calvin Coolidge was the outstanding item of the front pages of today's London newspapers, which printed lengthy obituaries while several also editorialized.

Tributes to his personal character were abundant. Views were also expressed that he had not the opportunity to display great political capacity.

The London Times editorially remarked that "singular good fortune" made him president in a period of unprecendented prosperity. It continued:

"He owed it more to his luck than to his wisdom that he had not occupied the White House in the succeeding years of misery and ruin. * * * this lonely, inarticulate, simple, shrewd man was not of today but had the fine qualities of the best type of American plain citizen of the past."

Premier MacDonald, at Lossiemouth, said he was "deeply shocked" when informed of the former president's death. Sir Josiah Stamp, British economist, said "Mr. Coolidge was a figure who would become historic." Lord Howard, former ambassador to the United States; George Lansbury, labor party leader; Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, and Sir Harry E. Brittain, Pilgrims' club president and vice president of the British Speaking Union, expressed sympathy.

From German President.

BERLIN, Jan. 6.—(AP)—President Paul Von Hindenburg expressed regret at the death of Calvin Coolidge in a cable message today to President Hoover.

"I beg to express to your excellency my deepest felt condolence because of former President Coolidge's demise."

French Comment Mixed.

PARIS, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Criticism was mingled with praise in this morning's newspaper tributes to former President Coolidge. The following were outstanding comments:

Petit Journal: "He deserved his prestige and was an ideal president."

Echo De Paris (By "Pertinax," Andre Gerand, the foreign editor): "Coolidge did not know Europe. As concerns France, his ignorance and hostility unfortunately were fairly evident."

Ere Nouvelle (organ of former Premier Edouard Herriot): "Coolidge really was the author of that policy which clashes with our taste for order and logic."

Former Premier Laval said he "participated in the sorrow of American citizens."

Praise From Japan.

TOKYO, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Count Yasyua Uchida, Japanese foreign minister, said today the "grievious news of the death of Calvin Coolidge came as a great shock and on behalf of my government and myself I wish to extend to Mrs. Coolidge and the whole American people our very deep sympathy in the loss they have sustained."

"A sage, level-headed counsellor has passed away and the world must be poorer for his death," he continued. "Returning from Paris after signing the anti-war pact of 1928, it was my privilege to be entertained at luncheon at the White House and I retain a pleasant and grateful recollection of the manner in which President Coolidge welcomed me. His death is to me a personal loss."

LARGE SAVINGS TAXPAYERS OF VARIOUS ROAD DISTRICTS ANNOUNCED

Navarro county road districts are among the first in Texas to have claims allowed by the board of county and district indebtedness in the assuming of bonds used on state highways, Clay Nash, former county judge, announced Friday following receipt of information from the board at Austin on a number of the claims allowed.

Mr. Nash said that the county was one of the first counties in the state to get the claims before this board, and this was largely through the hard work and efforts of A. F. Mitchell, county engineer who delved into the road district records and compiled the data, etc. He said that all claims sent in had been allowed and in some cases increased following the report of a special accountant who audited the district records and claims here several months ago.

Some counties have not sent in claims, it was pointed out.

Claims allowed and not previously reported include:

Road District 8, Blooming Grove Original Issue—$100,000; spent on state highways $20,553.64; state participation 20.55 per cent.

ACTIVE CAMPAIGN AGAINST DOGS AND ALL STRAY ANIMALS

A vigorous campaign has been initiated against dogs and other stray animals in the western residential section of the city by the Corsicana Police department according to Mounted Patrolman Ed Sheets, in charge of the drive. The elimination of the strays was started quickly after the killing of a dog near a school building earlier in the week, believed to have been afflicted with rabies.

The head of the slain animal was not sent to the Pasteur Institute at Austin for examination according to the patrolman, but there was little doubt that the animal was diseased. Running at large for several days, numerous other dogs are believed to have been bitten by the rabid dog. Several have been killed, and all found straying about loose will be given similar treatment, police said.

All owners of pet dogs and other animals are urged to keep them carefully restrained, and watch them closely until danger of infection has passed. If suspicious symptoms are noted a veterinatian should be called, Mr. Sheets said, or if it is desired to have the animal killed city officials will co-operate to the fullest extent.

One heifer has been killed by the owner after being bitten by the dog and a close watch is being kept on several other animals.

BIG CONOCO TRAVEL BUREAU BUS VISITS CORSICANA THURSDAY

Creating considerable interest as it paraded the streets of the business district, the big Conoco Travel Bureau Bus included Corsicana on its itinerary Thursday, spending several hours in the city before visiting other towns in this section of the state.

The big red, green and white vehicle was in charge of Marshall Dana, special representative of the travel bureau, and was driven by John Richards. Included in the party were H. S. Keller, district Conoco representative and G. E. Mershon, local agent. The bus is equipped with broadcasting equipment capable of either distributing speeches or music to the crowds that gather for inspection. Side panels of the bus carry displays of many of America's wonderlands.

When the travel bureau established its headquarters in Denver almost three years ago it was regarded as a hopeless experiment, Mr. Dana said, but it has been proven a decided success since that time he declared. More than 26,000 trips were planned during the first year, and nearly 130,000 trips had been planned up to September 30, 1932, with more than that number of Conoco passports (identification cards) issued. Mr. Dana said that the statistics of the bureau showed that more than thirty per cent of the trips covered some portion of Texas, and it was believed that over 150,000 motorists had been routed through the state in the first three-quarters of the year.

Mr. Dana pointed out that the service is available to the motoring public without cost, and is offered to everyone. Trips are planned carefully, with full details of road conditions, optional routes, best camping sites or hotel accommodations, approximately the cost, along with special literature on many of the special points of interest along the route or at the destination.

LOCAL MINISTERS ORGANIZE TO KEEP PROHIBITION INTACT

ADOPT PLAN OUTLINED RECENTLY BY UNITED FORCES FOR PROHIBITION

The local ministers of the city were called together in a special meeting, Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, by the president of the Ministerial Association, E. T. Miller, minister of the First Baptist church. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the advisability of putting on a campaign favoring the retention of the eighteenth amedment, the Volstead Act, the state Dean law. The ministers met in the study of the First Baptist church.

The host minister stated in a few words, the purpose of the meeting, after which J. L. Hines, minister of the Church of Christ invoked the blessings of Almighty God upon the movement. Mr. Miller then called attention to a meeting of the United Forces for Prohibition, which took place Monday and Tuesday in Dallas.

Dr. W. R. White, executive secretary, said: The courage of the preachers has "softened under prosperity" and urged the ministers to take the lead in a militant defense against repeal or modification of the dry laws. "Moral pacifism is the curse of this hour," declared Dr. White. "We have too many folks who has prospered in the ministry as well as in other professions and their courage has softened under prosperity. * * * We must not compromise with a principle. We must work on our lawmakers; nothing will dry a legislature better than the warm waves of public sentiment."

J. W. Bergin, minister of the First Methodist church, South, who attended the Dallas meeting, Tuesday, reported that there were assembled something like three thousand people in the auditorium and that short speeches were made by different people.

He said: "The speakers lacked that old fashioned fire, with the exception of one preacher, who hailed from John Garner's town—well, he poured it on. It was reported that all the colleges of the state are opposed to the return of liquor * * * the educators are opposed to its return. * * *. Out of over four hundred doctors of Dallas, it was reported that not more than fifteen percent use liquor in connection with their practice. The Mayo's never use liquor only in extreme alcoholic cases."

Other remarks were inludged in by the ministers and all were of the opinion that the ministers should step right out on the front battle line and fight for the principles of right. A number of committees were appointed by unanimous vote.

Dr. Charles C. Selecman, president of the United Forces of the state, announced a five-point program, which was accepted by the ministers of this city, namely: "A state-wide meeting at Austin Jan. 13, observance of National Prohibition Sunday in all churches Jan. 15, the day before the anniversary of American prohibition; a campaign for payment of poll taxes; use of the printed plan of organization in home town papers of a report of the Dallas meeting and of plans for the state campaign to save the dry laws."

It was also agreed that the first mass meeting of the Corsicana Forces be held in the First Methodist church, and that Dr. J. H. Burma, president of Trinity Unversity, Waxahachie, be the first speaker. The time of this meeting will be announced later. The meeting then adjourned until Monday, Jan. 12, at 10 a.m..

HOME MADE CREAMS

Weather like this dries the skin and causes it to chap. Unexpected wrinkles form. The answer is: cold cream—lots of it. Cold cream is expensive, so my advice to you is to make it yourself.

It is easy to make. I know sometimes my readers are not successful. They send me samples and I find that their creams are too thick—a fault which does not make the cream less valuable, it merely makes it harder to use. Sometimes this is because they have heated their ingredients carelessly, so the water has evaporated, sometimes they heat everything too much, occasionally they misread the directions, or their druggists, in filling the order gives them too generous amounts. Properly followed, you can make yourself either a cleansing, or a massage cream, from the following formula—and without any trouble either.

This Treatment Costs Almost Nothing

Cleansing Cream: One ounce each of white wax and of spermaceti. Five ounces of mineral oil, warmed enough so the waxes melt into it—just barely melt. One and a half ounces of rose water, to which you have added 30 grams of borax—a very tiny amount as you see. Heat this lukewarm, then with both saucepans off the fire pour the water slowly into the oil and stir and beat as the mixture cools. Add ten or 15 drops of any perfumed oil which you fancy. And if you want a lighter cream, use two ounces of rose water and not the one and a half.

If you want a Massage Cream to use for a very dry skin or for wrinkles, substitute olive oil or almond oil for the mineral oil The skin takes up this vegetable oil. Olive oil makes a delicious pale yellow cream, and either one makes a smooth texture cream, with just enough body to keep nicely in jars, yet light enough to melt when it touches the warm skin.

A word of advice—when you have coated the skin with cream and worked it in, use ice over the cream; it is not drying this way.

Marie F.—The honey-almond lotions are best used for the hands, and creams for the complexion. At this season of the year these lotions are almost a daily need, for they keep the skin from chapping, also remove minor stains; best of all, they evaporate and leave the skin without any trace of oil, so no time is wasted in clearing the skin before undertaking a piece of work. They are always inexpensive. If you prefer to make up one for yourself, and send a stamped, self-addressed envelope, I shall be glad to mail you a good formula.

SENATE BUSY BUT HOUSE WAS IDLE; CONGRESSMEN DEAD

FIRST APPROPRIATION MEASURE RECEIVED IN SENATE ON MONDAY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The senate swung into a legislative quickstep today while the house halted to stand at attention in honor of two dead members.

While working toward a compromise on the Glass banking bill, the senate received the first appropriation measure, that one of its committees has approved this session. The committee, at the same time that it approved the $31,000,000 deficiency bill, agreed upon the treasury-postoffice measure but various changes in language prevented its presentation today.

From another direction, the senate received a recommendation from its judiciary committee for adoption of a resolution to repeal the 18th amendment. Plans were made to take it up for early consideration, possibly by the end of the week.

Hearings went ahead on the La-Follette-Costigan relief measure with a recommendation coming from the reconstruction corporation that industry be restored to a normal basis, with the government guaranteeing it against any losses.

The adjournment of the house out of respect for Representatives Butler of Oregon and Kendall of Pennsylvania delayed completion of debate on the farm relief bill.

The rules committee, however, decided to open the way to prompt consideration of a measure to make available the remainder of the, $200,000,000 that the reconstruction corporation was given last year for crop production loans. A little more than half of the amount has not been used.

House Adjourns.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The house today met and adjourned immediately out of respect to the deaths over the week end of Representatives Samuel A Kendall of Pennsylvania, and Robert R. Butler of Oregon.

Given Priviledged Status

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The house rules committee voted today to give a privileged status to legislation making available $103,000,000 for crop production loans in 1933.

Says Roosevelt Favors.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(AP)—In the midst of compromise efforts on the Branch banking controversy, Senator Glass (D., Va.) told the senate today during debate on his banking reform bill that he felt "authorized to say that President-Elect Roosevelt wants this bill passed."

The compromise on foot would permit branch banking by national banks only in those states permitting state banks to have branches within state lines.

The present provision, over which Democratic liberals and conservatives are split, would permit branches regardless of state laws prohibiting them.

Upon resumption of senate consideration of the measure, Senator Glass asserted he wanted to "deny" the bill would "incur a veto from the president-elect" as had been predicted in some quarters unfriendly to the measure.

ing, would be chosen president pro tem of the senate for the session. In that event, Senator Woodull would ascend to the governorship, temporarily, should Sterling leave the office before inauguration of his successor. It had been reported that he might resign a day or two before induction of the woman governor to save himself the ordeal of appearing on the same platform at the ceremonies with her and her husband, James E. Ferguson, his bitter political enemies.

Back After Six Years.

Mrs. Ferguson will be coming back to the chief executiveship after a lapse of six years since she was chosen Texas' first woman governor to serve for the term 1926-27. James E. Ferguson was governor for one full term and a part of another. He was impeached and removed from office in 1917, the judgment of the senate, sitting as a high court of impeachment, precluding his holding a state office again.

Governor Sterling is expected to send a message to the legislature on Wednesday, giving an account of his stewardship, as directed by the constitution, and making whatever proposals he chooses to submit. Mrs. Ferguson likely will submit a message on the following Wednesday, outlining her ideas of government.

It was believed the impending legislative session would be one of the most important in many years. Legislitive committees, created by the last legislature, prepared reports proposing many radical changes in administering governmental affairs.

IMPROVEMENTS AT TIGER FIELD DUE START THIS WEEK

Improvements are scheduled to start this week at Tiger Field if weather conditions permit, according to Coach John Pierce of Corsicana high school.

The stands at Tiger Field will be repainted and a turtle back will be given the gridiron. Other improvements will probably be made, but definite decision on those projects has not been made.

It is intended to start hauling dirt for the turtle back on the gridiron this week.

Work on the construction of a track around the playing field is also likely to get under way in the near future.

It is contemplated constructing a field house at the home of the Tigers to include dressing quarters, etc., but this may not be done.

A. E. Foster and Son, contractors, are busy repairing the stands that collapsed at the championship game between Corsicana and Masonic Home two weeks ago.

Rains Stop Farm And Paving Work In Kerens Sector

KERENS, Jan. 10.—(Spl.)—The rain on Saturday put a stop to all work here for at least one more week if no more rain falls.

The Union Highway people would have begun work Saturday had no rain fallen. The contractors say it will be at least a week before they will start again.

Farm work will be delayed at least two weeks. Oats are looking fine with a large acreage up. With hundreds of acres more to be planted. A survey among Kerens farmers indicates they will reduce their cotton acreage more this year than in 1932.

ADDITIONAL CUTS ARE MADE MONDAY BY COMMISSIONERS

SALARIES FOR FARM SUPERINTENDENT AND GUARDS CUT DRASTICALLY

Navarro county commissioners' court Monday slashed salaries of the county farm superintendent, guards and janitors for a total reduction to the county of opproximately $1,250 for the year at the regular meeting. Election of a county farm superintendent, a health officer, fireman and janitor is slated for Monday afternoon's session. A number of routine matters were discussed and claims were allowed.

The bond of S. B. Jordan, justice of the peace, precinct 1, place 2, in the sum of $1,000, was approved.

The application of C. E. McWilliams, county judge, for the appointment of Miss Myrl Tittle as stenographer in the county judge's office, was approved.

The application for the appointment of deuty tax assessors by Dock J. Martin, tax assessor, was approved as follows:

Deputy Assessors:

J. W. Varnell, north of Beat 1, 15 cents per $1,000 assessment and 2 1-2 cents on the polls. The 2 1-2 cents per poll is allowed all deputy assessors working on commission basis.

Claude Hollingsworth and wife, south Beat 1, 15 cents.

Davie Wylie, beat 2, 15 cents.

G. L. Walker, beat 3, 10 cents.

Ben Bruce, beat 4, 10 cents.

Sam Armstrong, beat 6, 12 cents.

J. K. Hawthorne, beat 7, $75 for entire beat.

Dan Bell, beat 8, 12 cents.

W. D. Clark, beat 5, 10 cents.

The report of the P. and S. hospital was presented, showing a deficit for the month of December of $400.54. J. M. Tullos, county auditor, was authorized to transfer $400 from the general fund to the hospital fund to care for the deficit.

The county farm superintendent has been paid $85 per month and his wife allowed $10 per week as superintendent of the cooking. The court reduced the combined job to $65 per month, and the guards salaries were reduced from $40 per month to $25 per month. The superintendent and his wife and the guards are furnished room and board.

Salary Remains Same.

The salary of the county health officer kept at $75 per month as in former years.

The salary of the firemen and ...man at the courthouse was ...ed to remain at $100 per ...h while the janitor's salary ...duced from $50 to $40 per ...

...erable discussion was held ...to the policy of the new ... having persons fined in ... court serve out their fines ...00 per day in the county ...or whether they will be sent ...the county farm to work out ...eir fines at $1 per day. When ...he prisoner remains in jail, the ...arresting officer and county attorney does not get fees, while if the fines are served out at the county farm, the officers get one-half fees.

No definite decision was reached Monday morning, but it seemed there was some sentiment among the court to have the prisoners work out their fines at the county farm.

London Gift Shoppe Was Stage for Romance of Baruch Scion

* * * * * * *

Marriage of American Prince Charming to Salesgirl Climaxed Fight to Restore Her Illusions, Shattered by Contact with Grasping Brides to Be.

MR. and MRS. BERNARD BARUCH, JR.

Bernard M. Baruch, son of one of President-elect Roosevelt's financial advisers who is mentioned as a likely possibility for next Secretary of the Treasury, did not find his bride in a "five-and-ten-cent-store" like the happy man in the song, but he did find her in a gift shoppe, where her illusions about romance and marriage had become sadly in need of repair. The lady who is Mrs. Bernard M. Baruch, Jr., today was then Miss Winifred Mann, 28 and beautiful. Her daily stint at the London department store where she was employed before romance dawned included the keeping of a "Book of Brides," wherein London ladies who expected to trip to the altar in the near future recorded the list of presents they desired from their friends. It was due to her dealings with these brides-to-be that the young salesgirl developed an attitude of cynicism towards romance and marriage, for she discovered that a large percentage of the future brides worried more about the gifts they hoped to receive than they did about the husband they were getting. But Winifred forgot all about her disillusionment when young Barney came along. The American Prince Charming restored a few of her shattered ideals and finally persuaded her to say "yes." However, Winifred changed her mind and young Baruch returned to America to continue his bombardment of her heart by cable and trans-Atlantic phone, with the result that they were married in Geneva, Switzerland, last September. The newly-weds are now honeymooning "somewhere in these United States" with the blessing of both their parents.

All armed forces were called out to cope with the uprisings. Scores of extremists and comminists were imprisoned in various cities, Police hinted that the monarchists, whose abortive revolution was quelled in Andalusia last August, and communists were responsible for the outbreaks.

It was estimated that thirty-five persons were wounded, including five women and three militiamen.

Disturbances involved soldiers and extremists in Madrid and in Carabanchel, where syndicalists attempted to storm a barracks. One person was wounded and eleven arrested. There were reports of atempts to storm barracks and police stations in other cities.

At Lerida, capital of the province of that name, syndicalists attacked the Castillo barracks but were repelled.

Police charged and dispersed crowds at the Arch of Triumph in Barcelona. More than 100 extremists attacked the France railroad station, throwing bombs, but were driven away by civil guards. Shooting broke out between the extremists and guard at San Angustin barracks and in front of the Palace of Justice.

The town of Repollet, near Sabadell, Catalnia, was taken over by Communists who place outhorities and civil guards in jail and raised a red and black flag over the city hall. Refinforcements of civil guards and assault guards recaptured the city after a battle.

One civil guard and one townsman were killed and several wounded.

Traveling chiefly in freight cars the group has wandered for more than a week over this section of Texas, the younger and more able boys lifting the wheel chair of their companion to and from the trains.
